

REALITY
TRANSURFING

INTERNATIONAL
TRANSURFING INSTITUTE

The Money Shot

By: Renee Garcia

Now for the money shot of my system. Here is where it gets a little bit weird, a little bit magical, and very fun.

I am going to give you six tools in this module that have taken me years to cultivate and fine-tune. For those of you familiar with my courses, some of this may be a reiteration but in conjunction with the new tools offered here, the use of them will be an entirely new experience.

I will give a breakdown of each, but before I start, let me say this: these are my tools and I have proven results that they, without a shred of doubt, work for me. The reason these tools work is because I believe in them and have found confirmation of their efficacy via the results they produce. You can use my tools, create an entirely new set of your own, or develop something in between.

Do not continue to use tools that you do not feel work for you, even if I have expressed that they work for me.

The power of my tools is rooted in my belief system; that they are exactly what will help me to rapidly materialize my intention with ease.

You've got to really feel it!

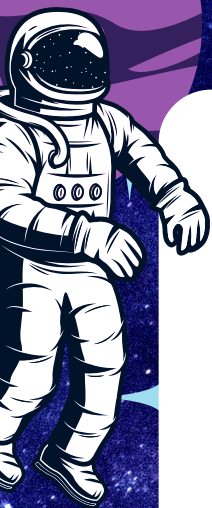

I use each of these tools every day in addition to running my checklist each morning and night to make sure I am fulfilling the requirements I have set for myself to materialize my goal rapidly. I will wrap these modules up with my checklist as it is currently. Again, you can use it exactly as it is, make one entirely your own, or create a hybrid of my ideas and yours.

So let's do this shit. The tools!

REALITY
TRANSURFING

OBJECT OF INTENTION

There are unrealized and unmaterialized sectors of reality and variations behind the Mirror, including the version of reality you are looking to materialize. You are going to create an anchor in your physical world that essentially acts as a telephone line between this version of reality and the version of reality you are looking to materialize behind the mirror.

I want you to get an object which signifies this unmaterialized sector of reality. For those of you that have paid attention to my updates on my Tbilisi purchase, my Object of Intention was a little white ceramic homemade house that I purchased from an artist selling them on the street in Tbilisi. I immediately loaded this little object up with my intention. When I returned back to the USA, I set this object on my dining table. It holds a little LED light that I can turn on and off which illuminates the house from within, the light shining through the windows and doorway.

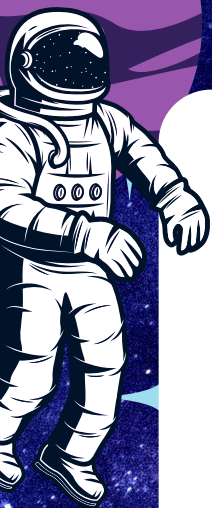

Each morning and each night, I turn the light on for 30 seconds to a minute and just look at it, cementing my intention within my mind and connecting it to the little house. I would see the house throughout my day, and this would help me to return to what my intention is, in current space and time.

As stated, my Object of Intention has a line that connects it in my real world extending to behind the mirror, and when I focus on it, the line of communication opens. Events begin to unfold behind the mirror that I do not need to see. These events result in information, opportunities, and means in which I can realize my intention in the physical world.

REALITY
TRANSURFING

I move on them, executing them methodically and rapidly. I begin to pull this version of reality from behind the mirror into the physical world. I have created Objects of Intention for multiple goals and they change with each one. Once I realize the goal, the Object of Intention is released and replaced with a new object and a new goal. My Objects of Intention are beautiful and representative of the goal itself.

I wholeheartedly believe that I materialized the Tbilisi house variation of reality so quickly because I chose a very good and appropriate Object. You will know your object when you see it.

It will virtually scream out to you, “HERE I AM!”

ARTIFACT OF POWER

This is somewhat like the Object of Intention, except that it connects me to the personal power I currently house within and the power that my higher self holds that I have yet to connect with.

My new Artifact of Power is a ring I bought a number of months ago. It is a massive ruby and diamond gold apple ring with a bite taken out of it.

REALITY
TRANSURFING

This ring connects me with everything I need within to materialize my intention. It represents my sovereignty and creative abilities.

It signifies to me my collection of skills, characteristics, and personal attributes that will allow me to materialize my goals, intentions and dreams.

I load this ring up with my intention to continue my personal evolution and connection to my higher self.

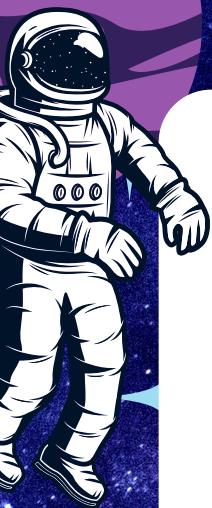

I highly recommend your Artifact of Power to be an item that you carry with you all of the time, preferably a piece of jewelry or something you carry in your pocket.

It can be anything: a gold chain, a ring, a leather bracelet. Just make certain that when you see it, you feel an expansion of your personal power within. Look at it often and connect with it when you need power to move through your Transfer Chain rapidly and with ease.

My Artifact of Power keeps me in check, signals to me when I am being lazy, and reminds me of my overall intention for myself - evolution. I have switched objects of power when I encounter something that seems to create an even greater sensation of power within. You can transfer power from one object to another if you want to upgrade or change your object for any reason. Please feel free to share your Artifact of Power or your Objective of Intention within the group to help people gain ideas for themselves.

These two objects will powerfully ground your intention into this current reality helping you stay connected for rapid materialization.

GOALS AND DOORS BOOK

I have encouraged use of this tool many times, in both the group and within my courses. Ideas, methods to achieve a goal or the next step you take should be pulled from your mind and put on paper.

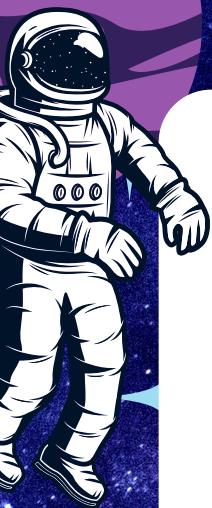

All of these things get lost within the mind, especially when they are just free-floating thoughts polluted by programming, overthinking, and all the tasks of daily life. The goals and doors book is an easy way to keep yourself focused on what tasks and steps you need to take to finish the current link in your chain and realize the next link.

Get a normal binder or a journal and write your goal on a piece of paper and tape it to the front. Anytime you have a thought of a step to take, something you can do, someone you can talk to, or any move or idea aligned to your goal, write it down in the book.

REALITY
TRANSURFING

As stated previously, I can complete in a day what would have in the past taken me a week or two. This is because I have organized my steps and have an efficient system for actionable steps. Without my goals and doors book, I am lost. I cannot possibly keep track of all of my thoughts and moves to make solely in my mind. This system is the backbone for how I am able to achieve it all with ease. In addition, I can look back on my past goals and doors books and see just how powerful I really am...

“Wow! I have done ALL this stuff!?!”

Yes, bitch. You are killing it.

Sidenote: on the cover of your book, if you are quantifying your goal, GO BIG. Do not make your goal easily achievable.

If you need to generate $25k to facilitate a purchase as a goal, go for $50k. I've learned that going big and being happy with anything in between works extremely well for me. When I set my goal too low, I tend to become complacent and not try as much. The challenge provides me with powerful energy, and I enjoy reaching above and beyond my own expectations.

THE LIVE STROLL

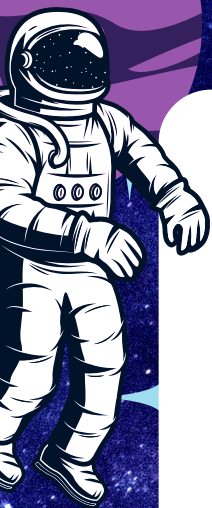

I am a walker. I love walking because I multitask when I do. Every single day, I walk a minimum of 10,000 steps. I get my dogs and myself out for some daily exercise and throw in my Live Stroll technique while I do.

Live strolling is the act of coming alive inside of the film that is your life. Every morning, before I walk, I declare to myself first that... I see myself and I see my reality. I feel my feet firmly planted on the ground and remind myself of my powers.

REALITY
TRANSURFING

I begin my walk and get my blood circulating. After about 15 minutes of my legs really moving and getting my heart rate up, I begin.

I imagine my intention being projected onto a film reel hovering in the sky. My intention with my walk is to attract any ideas, steps to take or any information that will assist me in the materialization of my goal. Anything that comes to mind I make note of it on my phone via a voice note and then add it to my goals and doors book.

I've had powerful insights come to me during my Live Strolls. The intention of this activity is to generate what you will need in order to fulfill your order. Every step that I take, I imagine myself that much closer to the version of reality I am intending.

A solid Live Stroll practice is a fantastic opportunity for you to get some exercise and open yourself to information which you will use during your day. This exercise, along with my goals and doors book, is a one-two punch which guarantees me no suspended state. I collect anything I consider helpful for rapid materialization, and include it in the goals and doors book to keep me on track. With these two steps alone, I have successfully materialized the following:

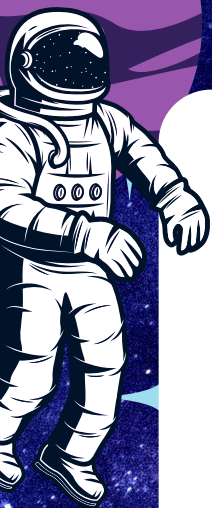

Attaining my real estate license in record time, passing on the first test and immediately generating home sales that produced an award for the highest grossing sales of any agent that year, during my first year as an agent.

My own personal home sale, again in record time, receiving an offer over asking the same day I listed it. In addition, I received the highest selling price recorded for a home that size.

REALITY
TRANSURFING

Rapid success in my jewelry business this year upon setting a goal to revamp the way I did business, which included: executing new selling techniques, marketing, and creating new contacts. Monetarily, I surpassed all my goals.

The Tbilisi home purchase - within 31 days of setting my intention, I found, negotiated and purchased my dream home in a foreign country navigating complex laws, language barriers and banking challenges.

This is the moment I realized that I had mastered the art of rapid Slide materialization and knew I had to bring my current methods to you. Your gains are going to be specific to your skill set and intentions. Starting at the ground floor? Brilliant! You've got all the tools to help you advance levels with ease. Oh... there is one more thing and this one is necessary.

THE NEGATIVE SLIDE

Please see the video provided to learn more about the Negative Slide.

The Negative Slide is absolutely necessary for helping me maintain balance in my reality. With rapid materialization, one would benefit from maintaining awareness of Importance, Excess Potential and Balancing Forces.

This is the scenario I set up for myself I declare to my world that I want something, a profession, an accomplishment, or a certain amount of money. Then I state that it will be a fun experiment to see how successful I can be at materializing this intention. I DO NOT demand my world to give it to me, or feel that it is mandatory for my happiness, or pressure my world to show me results. I turn away from the image my mirror is reflecting back to me and focus my attention on the source of this image - ME.

REALITY
TRANSURFING

I run a negative slide of defeat; my world not agreeing with my intention and dissolving my path to it. I accept failure in advance and trust that if it is not for me, it's not for me. I go about doing everything I can imagine for rapid materialization, yet remain open to my world showing me something else.

Years ago I wanted to buy a home in a remote part of the Sierra Nevada mountains. It was a tax lien sale and I was certain I was going to get the home at a bargain. The owner of the home paid his tax an hour before the due date. I was devastated and absolutely fell apart emotionally. I REALLY wanted the house. I was disappointed, angry, and felt as though I had been cheated out of something that I already perceived to be mine.

Looking back on it, that home purchase would've cornered me into a nightmare. My boyfriend at the time and I later broke up because he refused to contribute financially. Had I bought the isolated home I would have been stuck out there, with him living off of me and with an absence of opportunity that was to propel me into a new reality.

If I had utilized the concept of the Negative Slide, I would not have encountered the explosion of disappointment in my mind after the sale did not go through. In addition, I would have realized that the sale not going through was absolutely my world taking care of me. I trust my world now and if my world is to show me that something is not for me, I know that I will never have to endure what I put myself through psychologically after that purchase fell through. The negative slide is your friend and trusting your world is your best friend.

Rapid materialization is hardcore. You've got to go into your intention with all engines full throttle. This does not mean letting your importance levels get out of control.

In fact, I applied the lessons learned from the example above to my latest home purchase. I intended exactly what I did, while also giving it up at the same time. The Negative Slide is like a lubricant for reality, while Excess Potential and Importance levels bind it up. DO NOT run the negative slide daily—just once or twice will do. If things begin to go a little haywire your first few times using this system, step back and assess where you may be off balance. Keeping myself balanced while implementing this system is my key to success and I just continue to improve my craft.

Anomalous Action

Let's call a spade a spade here. Dreaming doesn't work unless you take action. The challenge is... most do not know how to do so. Your "action muscle" needs to be exercised! Action moves you down that Transfer Chain and without it, well, you are simply treading water. Check out my free videos on YouTube on how to take Anomalous Action or dive into the course I've created on the subject if you are really in need of some assistance. My whole reality consists of high quality and high volume Anomalous Action these days and I am handsomely rewarded for my commitment to it. If you are in a reality rut, this could be just the ticket to exponential evolution both internally and externally.

As an Irish Proverb I once heard goes...

You'll never plough a field by turning it over in your mind.

As I close this out, I want to wish you the best of fortune in your endeavors. Again, find exactly what works for you and go with it. Refine your methods as you go and don't stop. With everything I have offered here, I am certain you will have plenty to propel you forward. Please provide updates, ask questions, and share your successes in the Reality 2.0 FB Group.

May the string of success be in your hands today Transurfer, with the Wave of Fortune gently rolling in. Peace out

